

Authentication / Acknowledgement

Any legal document issued in the U.S. must first be acknowledged or authenticated ('consularized') by the Philippine Embassy/Consulate General in order for that document to have any legal validity in the Philippines. Each "consularized" document will bear the seal of the Consulate General and the signature of the authenticating officer. The Philippine Consulate General does not assume responsibility for the contents of the document.

Examples of these documents are Special Power of Attorney, General Power of Attorney, Affidavit, Certification, Deed of Donation, Deed of Sale, Extra-judicial Settlement of Estate; U.S. Government-issued documents, such as Birth Certificate, Death Certificate, Marriage Certificate, Divorce Decree, etc.; and those issued by private institutions, such as Transcript of Records, Medical Records, Licenses, Certificates of Training, etc.

Please note that certifications are not affixed with a "red ribbon", it only bears the official gold seal and officer's signature. Acknowledgements and Authentications will bear the red ribbon, gold seal, and the signature of the administering officer.
